Couch Grass Control

Couch or quack grass is a very troublesome weed in many districts, particularly in those districts receiving a fairly heavy annual rainfall. The following practices are recommended for control.

It has been proven that it is easier to eradicate a patch of couch grass that has become well established than one that has been continually under cultivation. In a patch that is well established the majority of the root system is near the surface, that is to a depth of about four inches, and the whole root system is weaker than if it were distributed to a greater depth as is the case when it is under cultivation. In patches that are not well established it has been a practice to sow the area down to a tame grass or legume and either pasturing it heavily or cutting it for hay. The patch is left down until a good sod is formed, then after a hay crop is cut off in June, plowed to a depth of three inches, followed immediately by disking to break up the sod clumps. As soon as green growth appears the patch should be harrowed, or spring tooth cultivated to bring the new shoots to the surface so that they can be dried out. This practice should be continued until freeze up. The following spring the land should be sown to a quick maturing crop such as barley. After the crop has been cut cultivation should be continued until freeze up.

Two common causes of failure in the eradication program are that all new growth is not destroyed or the cultivation of the patches is not continued through harvest time.

When cutting couch grass for hay it should be done shortly after it has headed out as immature couch grass seeds will germinate and grow.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. STRANGE

The age-long method by which farmers throughout the world have stayed in business has been to put by savings in good years to tide them over the lean years, which are bound to come on these prairies because fluctuations of climate cause fluctuations in yield. To set aside cash reserves farmers must be permitted to obtain the highest prices as registered on world open markets.

For some time Canadian wheat has been sold at only $1.55 a bushel whereas world wheat price as registered on the open market at Chicago has been $2.18 which price American farmers have been and are now receiving.

On the 1945 crop alone our prairie farmers have lost 110 million dollars because of the difference in these prices. 110 million dollars extra saved by farmers would have provided a great deal of security for themselves when leaner years come.

Life seems to teach on hard lesson. Security based on one's own savings is a sure foundation. To depend on governments or other people coming to one's rescue in times of trouble is usually a broken reed, for in times of trouble other people are in difficulties too. Farmers, I suggest, are today rightly entitled to the full world market price of their wheat—$2.18 a bushel—so that they can still put by some cash savings to give themselves, by their own efforts, better security in later years.

Crop Report

Compiled from the records of 653 governmental and Searle Rain Gauges.

The good rains of the past week in Alberta and parts of Saskatchewan have arrested the crop deterioration that has been taking place since April 1st.

The all-over general moisture condition for the three prairie provinces combined, taking into account grain seeded on both stubble and summerfallow, has increased 1 percent during the past week.

The total moisture condition for the three provinces is now 80 percent compared with 79 percent last week and 88.8 percent a year ago. The condition for Alberta is now 79 percent, compared with 75 percent last week and 81 percent at this time a year ago.

In Alberta crop districts No. 6, 10 and 15 are normal; No. 13 is considerably better than normal; all other districts somewhat less than normal.

It will be observed from this that the rains which fell improved the moisture condition in Alberta considerably.

40-Acre Field Is Contest Minimum

Forty acre fields are the minimum which may be entered in the National Barley Contest, entries for which close Saturday, June 15.

Larger fields are in fact more desirable as each contestant must produce at least one carload of 1,667 bushels of barley.

In the eastern division which includes Ontario and Quebec where farms are smaller, two farmers may enter as one contestant. Contestants in the western division are not likely to be handicapped by small land holdings but there is nothing to prevent two farmers from entering as one contestant.

In this case the size of each farmer's field must be at least 2 Acres. The field score shall be the average of the scores for the two fields. The grain from the two fields will be mixed and shipped in one car. If the grain is held for seed the sample taken by the Plant Products Division shall be representative of both lots of grain.

The two farmers shall share equally in any prize won.

Only a few more days remain in which to make entries. A fair number have been received by the provincial committees the past week. So long as entry forms are mailed on or before June 15 they will be accepted. Send them to the chairman of the provincial committee, A. M. Wilson, department of agriculture, Edmonton.

Wedding

BURRELL-WHITE

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the Three Hills United Church on Monday, June 10th, when Delphine Lynette White, of Carbon, became the bride of Bowman John Burrell of Water Valley, Alta.

The bride wore blue sheer and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Neva White, wore a pale pink dress.

The groom was supported by George Leven of Carbon.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the White farm north of Carbon for the wedding supper. After the supper the young couple left for Calgary and points west for a honeymoon.

The bride's going away costume was a wool Rosewood suit with accessories to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Burrell will reside on a farm north of Carbon.

Letter to the Editor

Referring to your article by Mr. G. A. Strange in which he says the Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, minister of labor, has just issued an open letter to Canadian workers in which he shows how well the prices of agriculture have been kept down. This is proof of what the Western farmer can expect unless he is willing to wake up, and fight for a fair and just deal themselves, by joining and supporting their Farmers' Union.

They are getting nothing more than what they deserve. Can any of your readers inform us through your columns, how our wheat is being handled by the Canadian Wheat Board. Our minister of finance has set the ceiling for wheat at $1.55 per bushel for No. 1 wheat at the terminal elevators, while it is a well known fact that wheat is selling on the open market at $1.80 or more. Will anyone tell me why, when the farmer delivers his grain at the country elevators he should not receive the full ceiling price of $1.55 per bushel instead of only $1.25, less handling charges and freight, which he is now receiving, plus a Producers Certificate value of which should be worth 30c per bushel and for which, although this money belongs to him, he has to wait two or three years to receive it. Here is something for the farmers to consider. Are these certificates worth 30c? Is there any credit firm or bank who would purchase them for 25c which would give them a margin of profit of 20 percent? I think not. Why? Because I do not think we will receive 30c per bushel for them, and this can only mean one thing, that a large portion of our wheat is sold for less than $1.55.

Yours truly,
George C. Grainger.

Equalization Of Education

THE NEED FOR THE EQUALIZATION of educational opportunities is frequently brought to the attention of the public and there are few who do not recognize the importance of this subject. There is no reason why children who live in the thinly populated parts of Canada should have fewer educational opportunities and advantages than those who are born in the cities. Yet it is true that for the most part there is a marked difference between the city schools and those situated in small rural communities. In critical times such as these in which we are living today, the need for leadership in all lines of endeavour has been clearly demonstrated. Canada will continue to need leadership and the services of citizens with training and ability in the years to come. Ability is not confined to one section of the country or of the population, yet there are not now equal facilities for education throughout the country.

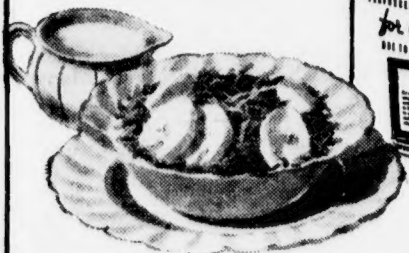

Finances Are An Obstacle

The question of education was discussed recently in the Canadian House of Commons, and at that time it was pointed out that in this, as in many problems which we are now facing, financial difficulties are an obstacle to any early action towards a solution. Figures showing the present expenditure for each child between the ages of five and nineteen years were given, and these revealed that the highest per capita outlay for education is in the province of Ontario, where the rate is $16.87 each year. The lowest expenditure for this purpose is in Prince Edward Island, where the rate is $14.29. The figures for the Western provinces showed that in Manitoba the rate is $35.37; in Saskatchewan $32.85; in Alberta $39.41 and in British Columbia $40.61. The average for the whole of Canada is calculated to be $33.00 per child.

Present Outlay Not Sufficient

The figures were compared to the recommendations of the Canada and Newfoundland Education Association, which suggested $67.00 per child each year as the necessary expenditure to ensure a desirable standard of education in all parts of the country. This would mean a doubling of the present amount which is being spent for this purpose. There is also need for extensive capital expenditure for buildings, equipment and teacher training. Difficulties in the way of securing funds for such an educational programme would be many, and assistance from the Dominion government would no doubt be required. There are many urgent demands on public funds at the present time, but the importance of investing in the training of the children who will bear the responsibilities of citizenship in the years to come should be neither minimized nor overlooked.

Famous Resort

Hollywood To Produce Film In Heart Of Canadian Rockies

Hollywood moves to Jasper National Park in Alberta, when Paramount sends a company and production crew totalling 180 persons to this famous resort in the heart of the Canadian Rockies—the largest National Park in the world—to film exteriors for "The Emperor Waltz", a gay production with a background of Vienna and the Tyrol.

Bing Crosby and Joan Fontaine, who will star, head the cast at the Jasper Park location.

The Jasper region was selected by the studio because of its scenic beauty and will be filmed in technicolor for the picture. Paramount's experts considered Jasper National Park the only mountain and lake area on the continent to compare with the Tyrolean Alps, which is the locale of the sequences to be filmed.

Canada's Farm Lands

Some Interesting Figures Given By Agricultural Economics Official

Although Canada has a land area of 3,466,566 square miles, only about 549,660 square miles, or 16 per cent., are presently occupied as agricultural land or have agricultural potentialities in some sense. Roughly the half of that area is in farms. The other half includes large areas that can be brought under cultivation only if Canada experiences a marked increase in population or greatly expanded export markets.

The above figures and prospects for additional settlement were given recently by Dr. J. F. Booth, of the agricultural economics division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, at the Chicago conference on farm tenure. —Kitchener Record.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY— JUST ANOTHER EVENING

By EULALIE WEEKS

"LISTEN, the more you do for people, the less thanks you get! In other words, my friend, if Connie has gotten herself into another mess and thinks little Miss Mary is going to come to the rescue, she's all wrong!"

"Don't be a nut, Mary! You'd have a good time. Connie says this chap is really keen."

"Then why isn't Connie keeping her date with him?"

"I told you! This other fellow that she says she's really in love with just got back. Bill and I will be there and the six of us could have a swell time."

"Not me. I'm tired of blind dates."

"Say, are you still carrying the torch for that soldier?"

Mary's heart always did a double-flip at the very thought of "that soldier". Nancy was referring to two years before when Mary had met Mark Hemming at a party and danced with him practically the entire evening. Was it possible to fall head-over-heels in love with a person and have that person not respond at all? She thought Mark had been sharing her and yet, when it came time to part, his leave-taking had been casual not even with mention of writing. The next day he went overseas.

"Quit your day-dreaming!" Nancy interrupted. "Be a sport, Mary, and come along tonight."

"Do you know the other men? What's Connie's beau like?"

"I have no idea. You'll come?"

Mary resigned herself to another evening.

As the girls watched the approach of three escorts, Mary's expression of unconcern, changed to one of shocked incredulity! Introductions were just a blur until the words "Mark Hemming" started her heart racing madly. Automatically, Mary moved to meet Mark but she was blocked by Connie who, linking her arm in his, exclaimed,

"Let's go; Saturday night, and not a care in the world..."

So Mark Hemming was the man Connie had chosen as her own! Mary blushed at the awful blunder she had almost made and resolved to be lively and gay, regardless of how she felt. When she caught Mark staring, she was thankful she was able to smile back amiably. When the couples started to exchange dances, she managed to avoid dancing with Mark, concentrated all her attention on the chap called Jimmie. Dancing with Bill, she was amazed to see Connie and Jimmie waiting with ill-concealed mutual pleasure. The flirt that Connie was! How could she be so heartless to Mark if she expected to win him? Nancy's suggestion that they freshen their "warpaint" came as a welcome relief to Mary and, besides, the boys were beginning to argue the pros and cons of war-time engagements or marriages. They left the table just as Mark stated firmly, "No man had a right to involve another person before he went overseas."

No, thought Mary, you might have been saddled to me if you hadn't been smart....

As the girls applied lipstick, Connie said to Mary, "you didn't want to come, eh, Mary? I must say you seem to be enjoying yourself! You're trying so hard to make a hit with Jimmie you must like him."

"Oh, he's alright."

"Well, I like that!"

"What's the difference whether I like Jimmie or not?"

"What's the difference? He just happens to be the man I intend to marry!"

Mary was stunned. "But you're with Mark!"

"Don't be silly! I paired off with Mark Hemming to make Jimmie jealous. I saw Mark only once before in my life—he's O.K., but Jim's the boy for Connie!" Mary's heart was pounding. "How did Mark happen to come?"

"Don't you remember we met him at a party a couple of years ago? He called at the office—said remembered where I worked but couldn't find any of the other girls."

"He said that?" "Mary!" Nancy was practically shrieking. "Is he your secret passion? What a coincidence!"

"What are you two talking about?" Connie demanded.

Nancy tried to explain.

"I'd like to dance with you now, Mark Hemming..." This has been postponed long enough!"

In the shelter of Mark's arms, Mary felt that he knew that something wrong had been made right and that he, too, agreed there would be time for explanation later.
